WEBINAR OVERVIEW

Pine and Lozer will not only talk about what their software does, but they will also point out things that advisors are or should be doing when looking through a tax return.

“It doesn't sound like great television or radio, but we are literally going to be walking through a tax return. Highlighting, when you see something on this line, what does it mean? What strategies does that trigger? We have an hour scheduled, but we will probably have to cut it short, because when you really dig into a return, there is a lot there,” said Pine.

“Given all the complexities that tax-focused financial advisors are seeing now, this could be one of the most important webinars advisors will attend in 2020. Having a conversation with clients about something other than investments shows that they are adding value and taking a comprehensive approach to planning,” said Lozer.

During the webinar, they will demonstrate how to use the new “Solve for Max” feature, an enhancement to the existing program that can find “the upper limit” on a client’s tax bracket.
