Incedo's AI-driven Platform and CEO Named Finalists in ThinkAdvisor Luminaires Competition

Incedo Lighthouse™ and Nitin Seth recognized for Digital Transformation and Artificial Intelligence Collaboration in the Wealth Management Industry

ISELIN, NJ (November 15, 2022) – Incedo, Inc. (Incedo), a leading digital transformation consulting and technology solutions firm, has been named as a finalist in this year's ThinkAdvisor Luminaries Class of 2022, an industry competition, now in its second year. The judges also gave a nod to Chief Executive Officer Nitin Seth in the Thought Leadership and Education category.

Individual finalists in the Thought Leadership and Education category honor those working to better understand, shape and improve industry practices, as well as those who strive to educate advisors and investors in timely and informative ways to improve client outcomes. Seth is being recognized for his best-selling and award-winning book Winning in the Digital Age: Seven Building Blocks of Successful Transformation where he captures how wealth management has been lagging in its evolution in the digital age and what shifts are needed to adapt to the changing client demographics and expectations.

Firms in the Thought Leadership and Education category are recognized for honoring those working to better understand, shape, and improve industry practices, as well as those who strive to educate advisors and investors in a timely and informative way to improve client outcomes. The recently-launched Incedo Lighthouse™ AI-driven Digital Enablement platform helps businesses accelerate digital transformation by automating the Data to Insights to Actions journey, personalizing the interactions between the advisors and the clients while integrating end-to-end digital capabilities to transform critical business workflows. The platform is available to enterprises in the wealth management, banking, life sciences, and telecommunications industries. It supports deployment models ranging from enterprise cloud to license-based SaaS to on-prem custom deployment.

“We are honored to be recognized by the Luminaries’ judges. One of the significant opportunities for wealth managers is to scale and personalize financial advice using AI/ML capabilities. Since its launch, Incedo Lighthouse™ has helped wealth management firms acquire, grow, and retain clients using personalization, and helped them automate decision making with AI-driven, personalized next-best-action recommendations across the wealth management value chain,” Seth stated. “With the help of the platform, enterprises are driving improved client experience and operational efficiencies by making the processes intelligent, automated and real-time.”

Incedo Lighthouse™ brings AI, Data and Digital technologies together to modernize client technology ecosystem, making them future-ready – enabling them to deliver desired business impact. The proprietary AI/ML algorithms powering the platform are centered around the System of Insights innovation, which is a product of 300+ person-years of experience in delivering actionable business insights at machine speed to Fortune 500 companies.
